Case Study - JDP Ltd

How Cloud4 helped JDP Ltd to improve business productivity and communications

Company name:
JDP Ltd

What is JDP Ltd?
A London based firm of executive search consultants with over 20 years' experience in supporting and advising the legal sector. With the ability to research high profile candidates, JDP is second to none in the industry.

Requirement:
A high specification hosted desktop and professional, versatile business email solution with built in application hosting, sharing and collaboration tools.

"We were looking for a cost efficient way of keeping our IT up to date and giving our users access to all their email from anywhere as we move around a lot.

At first, we went onto Hosted Exchange but after discussing how to make the business more mobile, Cloud4 suggested a Hosted Desktop trial which really worked for us and we moved everything over.

We have found Cloud4 to be efficient, professional, cost effective and all the staff have been extremely personable and user friendly."

The Project

JDP first contacted Cloud4 following a recommendation from their IT support consultant, who had worked with Cloud4 previously.

Maurice Webster, Director of JDP Limited, contacted Cloud4 with the initial requirement of migrating their current email services to the cloud. Following a successful migration to Hosted Exchange with no downtime or service interruption, Maurice decided to look at options which would enhance mobility and increase data security across the business.

JDP's Objectives

JDP relies heavily on mobility solutions. It operates in a fast-paced environment and had significant issues around remote access and the ability of users to work from different locations when needed.

TDP needed a reliable and secure solution which allowed for maximum business flexibility.

With an expert, UK-based team and a customer centric approach to service, Cloud4 was able to demonstrate the skills and flexibility of service needed to meet TDPs specific requirements. The strength of the reviews and feedback from existing clients gave JDP confidence that Cloud4 was the ideal partner.

Maurice noticed the real benefits of the Hosted Desktop solution after just a few days of the trial. With valuable support, all data and applications have been moved seamlessly into the cloud, with every user able to access from anywhere, at any time on any device.

Maurice was provided with access to the online control panel along with free training and guides on how to manage the services online, all fully supported by Cloud4's technical team wherever needed.

After Migration

JDP needed a reliable provider which could be entrusted with sensitive data management and migration as well as supply continuous ongoing support.

In Cloud4, Maurice found a provider which delivers a personal, flexible and cost-effective service.

One of the greatest benefits of the cloud is the ability to trial and move to new services at your own pace with little or no operational impact during migration.

We are looking forward to continuing our work and support with JDP Ltd in the future.
